RUSSIA AND TURKEY FORM PACT

Joint Action in Near East Should War Be Resumed

Military Support Provided for Says Belgrade Newspaper if Lausanne Parley Breaks Up—Russia Is to Send Several Divisions to Near East.

(By The Associated Press)

BELGRADE, Jan. 29.—The government newspaper Tribuna says today that Foreign Minister Tschitcherin of Russia and Ismet Pasha have made a secret pact at Lausanne by which Russia and Turkey will give each other military support in the Near East in case hostilities are resumed.

The agreement, which is said to have been accepted in both the Soviet and the Turk stipulates that Russia send several divisions into Mesopotamia should the British and Turks take up arms.

The newspaper also asserts that under the terms of a special arrangement made at Lausanne between Russia and Bulgaria, Russian troops may be sent to western Thrace across Bulgarian territory. Turkey agrees not to conclude any agreement at Lausanne without the previous consent of Russia, the Tribuna adds.

The task before the city auditor is an exacting one and includes detailed statements on the amount of money due the city in taxes and other sources of revenue during the past two years and the expenditures of each department. Distribute Draft
Of Turkish Pact

Doctrine to Be Submitted to Turkey Wednesday Contains 160 Articles and Eight Conventions.

(By The Associated Press)

LAUSANNE, Jan. 29.—A draft of the proposed treaty of peace which is to be submitted to Turkey Wednesday was distributed semi-officially to all delegations today. The document contained 160 articles to which eight conventions are annexed. There was nothing in it to indicate that the Turks are more favorably disposed towards signing the treaty. The eight conventions deal with the Straits, the frontiers of Thrace, the status of foreigners in Turkey, the Albanian declaration regarding payment of the Ottoman debt, commercial regime in Turkey, the Armistice and the exchange of populations and prisoners of war between Turkey and Greece. The last two will be signed separately by these two powers. The atmosphere above the conference was tense today for the chiefs of the Allies holding long consultations. The Turk representatives said the situation is so critical and difficult that they would make no statement although one of the secretaries expressed the hope that the treaties brought out by the presentation of the draft in the conference Wednesday would be so conciliatory that a rupture would be avoided.

OMINOUS RUMBLE OF WAR BEING HEARD

(By The Associated Press)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 29.—A secret session of the Ankara assembly began Sunday, lasted well into the night but beyond the statement that Kemal Bey, the premier, addressed the meeting at length. The topic of the conference was not divulged. A Turkish newspaper dispatch from Ankara says the premier's declarations were far from reassuring to the press. There has been a steady movement of British army material from shore to ships during the past few days, otherwise no other active activity has been observed.

Motorists Have a Narrow Escape

Five girls and two boys had narrow escapes from serious injury yesterday afternoon at about three o'clock on the concrete road about two miles south of Pelham. They were riding in a new car, the top down, when the car skidded and the wheels struck a deep dirt plunge over a bank. Other motorists saw the machine roll over completely and come to a stop in a gully on its four wheels. Nobody was hurt, despite the fears of many anxious people who stopped and hastened to their assistance. There were no scratches or broken bones, only more or less shock after the experience. About one hundred cars were turned up in the road while willing hands dragged the car back to the roadside.

The Ford car, the number of which was 52,374, belongs to You-Drive-It Motor Co. owned by Alex Davis. The car was in charge of Frank Walters and Lonzie Engman. It was a brand-new car.

REIDSVILLE, N. C., Jan. 29.—The car which broke out at 7:45 o'clock this morning in I. W. Cobb's grocery store on the corner of West Market and Guinea streets did considerable damage before it was put out at ten o'clock. A number of business concerns which rent storefronts in the block of buildings suffered either from fire and water while fleeing occupants on the second and third floors were virtually destroyed. The loss has not been estimated but it is probable that the insurance is only partial and probably will not meet the losses of any of the sufferers.

Reidsville Suffers Heavy Fire Damage

Hotwater Bag Trail Leads To Pelham Arrest

After a thrilling chase through several streets of Danville and then to Pelham by way of Gatewood's local police officers captured a Ford touring car containing J. W. Walker, driver, and T. B. Brown, E. M. McCullough and Percy Adlers, who had managed to throw from the machine during the course of the race eleven hot water bags filled with water. The four men were given time to change their clothes and then to face trial. Walker was fined $50 and costs for fast andreckless driving and each of the men were held under bond of $500 for violating the Mapp act. Unable to pay bond at that time they were held pending arrival of the sheriff from Yanceyville, who was on his way there early this afternoon. Officers who engaged in the race and captured the men were Sheriff J. H. Martin, and副官 J. H. Harris, W. R. Benson and George Price.

Officer Harris in the morning received information that a load of whisky was to be delivered at a point on Colquitt street near Cabell street church. This resulted in the above mentioned officers going hurriedly to the scene. The informant had told the officers that it was the intention of the rum runners to make the liquor delivery during the session. Officers who engaged in the race and captured the men were Sheriff J. "Shallow-minded writers have tried hard to make it appear that slavery was the cause of the war; that the southern men fought to keep their slaves. They utterly miss the point, or purposely pervert the truth."

"In days gone by the theological school men had hot contention over the kind of God they believed in. In their zeal over this trivial matter they lost sight of the great thing that did matter: the mighty transaction and purpose displayed upon high cross."

"In the cause of that war, slavery was only a detail and an occasion. Each of that day is immensely greater than the defense of their rights—the most sacred cause given man on earth, to maintain at very cost. With those men it was to defend the rights of their States to control their own affairs without dictation from anybody outside; a right not given but guaranteed by the Constitution, which those States accepted most distinctly under that condition."

Rev. Dr. Dame Buried Today In Baltimore

(Special to The Bee)
BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 29.—Funeral services for the Rev. Dr. William Meade Dame, 80, of Virginia, and Maryland, clergyman, Confederate veteran and native of Danville, Va., were held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, with burial in Baltimore. He died yesterday morning.

In Dame was 78 years old. Death came after a long illness. His four children were at his bedside when he died.

Dr. Dame's father was the Rev. George W. Dame, well-known Danville clergyman in his day. He studied at the Danville Male Academy, and when the outbreak of the Civil War, when only 16 years old, left the Danville Military Academy to become private volunteer in the Confederate Army.

On June 26, 1869, he graduated from the Protestant Episcopal Theological Seminary at Alexandria, Va., the same year marrying Miss Susan E. Funston.

Virginia Regiment and a member of the Confederate congress, being elected from Alexandria.

After his graduation he served in parishes in Prince William and Fairfax counties, then went to larger towns, where he stayed four years. In 1875 he was called to Norfolk, Va., where he founded St. Luke's church. From Norfolk he returned to Alexandria, where he became rector of Christ church, where George Washington had a pew and had been a regular attendant at the services. That church still stands and is one of the most interesting landmarks in Virginia history.

Dr. Dame came to Baltimore as rector of Memorial church on July 1, 1876.

The Richmond Howitzers battery in which Dr. Dame served during the Civil War, was one of the crack commands of the army of northern Virginia. It fought in every battle in which Lee's army was engaged. It was mentioned several times in general orders. Incidentally, Prof. Nicholas Crouch, well-known as the composer of "Kathleen Mavourneen," was the battery's bugler.

Several years ago Dr. Dame published a volume of his experiences with the Confederate army. It was instrumental in the escape of Dr. J. W. Peacock from the state prison on the night of August 29 as "a fabrication out of the whole cloth." Superintendent George Pou of the penitentiary stated today that a thorough investigation had been made of the imputed charges of improper management of the prison.

The only woman that ever visited Dr. Peacock was Mrs. Peacock's wife, Capt. Pou said, and she saw him always in the visitors' room and under the usual rules with the single exception of an occasion when she was allowed to visit his quarters. Mr. Pou said that the story published Sunday attacked by implication at least one of his most valued men at the penitentiary and that the investigation which was conducted immediately after Dr. Peacock's escape was aimed at his character.

Banquet Given At Presbyterian Church Sat. Night

The Brotherhood of the First Presbyterian Church was host Saturday in the Sunday School room of the church to the Rev. Ben R. Lacy, Jr., D. D., of Atlanta, Ga., who has been called to the pastorate of the Danville church, and who will preach, morning and evening, today to the congregation. Attending the banquet were a large percentage of the members of the Brotherhood, the elders and deacons and others prominent in the church.

Dr. Lacy has not made a decision as regards the call and probably will say nothing definite until he returns to Atlanta. In a brief talk last evening, he said that he had been "called from a great field to a great field," and that a decision in the matter will require time.

However, the great needs of the local Presbyterian field were presented strongly and appealingly in a series of able talks by members of the church last night. Each speaker presented some phase of the work of the church and took occasion to urge Dr. Lacy to accept the call that had been extended.

The banquet was spread in the Sunday School room, which had been beautifully decorated by a committee of whom Mrs. F. R. Dulin was chairman. Candles and candelabra were used most effectively. Large branches were used as a background, the whole being most pleasing.

The banquet, which had been prepared by the ladies of the church, under the supervision of Mrs. J. E. Pearson, was served by a number of young women and the guests did full justice to the food, which brought a tribute from more than one of the speakers, and privately from all of those present.

Harry Wooding, Jr., was introduced as toastmaster by W. W. Moore, president of the Brotherhood. The program was begun with a solo by Ashby Rainey, a member of the choir of the church.

The toastmaster then called upon John T. Watson, an elder, to briefly outline the various phases of the work which was being done by the church and which was in contemplation by the congregation. As each speaker's time was limited, Mr. Watson was barely able to touch upon the important work being done, but he expressed his own and the evident wish of the members of the church that Dr. Lacy accept the call to the First Presbyterian Church of Danville.

George P. Georghegan, Jr., superintendent of the Sunday School, told of the work of that department and the great need for a pastor and leader to direct not only the Sunday School, but the whole church, expressing the hope that Dr. Lacy would see his way clear to come to this city.

In turn speeches were made by Dr. R. N. Harper, Jr., Dr. R. N. Harper, Sr., Mr. Albright, of the College Avenue Mission, Col. W. M. Kemper of D. M. I. T. E. Williamson, W. W. Moore, John W. Cook, and Mayor Harry Wooding, all of whom voiced the earnest wish that Dr. Lacy would accept the call which has been extended him.

Mr. Williamson told in a most inspiring way of the missionary work which has been undertaken by the local church and the missionaries which are now being supported in the church. Col. Kemper, head of the women's work, which is known as the property of the Presbyterian church, P. of C. Cook outlined the aims and purposes of the Mountain Miss on school in Patrick County, and the others made talks about various phases of the work of the church.

At the close Dr. Lacy was called upon for a talk. He spoke of his great work in Atlanta, made allusions to his army career, which is understood to be quite noteworthy and he talked very earnestly about the Danville field, giving his hearers to understand that he would weigh the call carefully before he came to any decision.

Dr. Lacy, quite a young man, impressed his hearers as a speaker of force and a man of charming personality, a preacher who had a vision and the will to achieve.

The evening was brought to a close by the singing of one verse of America and the pronouncement of the benediction by the Rev. L. P. McIninch of Schoolfield.

While in the city Dr. Lacy is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Overby.

Will Europe's Princes Ever Reign?

CAROL, ROMANIA

GUSTAF, SWEDEN

LEOPOLD, BELGIUM

HUMBERT, ITALY

OLAF, NORWAY

FREDERICK, DENMARK

ALFONSO, SPAIN

BY MILTON BRONNER
(Special to The Bee)

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Analysis by pessimistic observers of the European crisis, who see in it the possible harbinger of another great war, has created new alarm in royalist circles.

The rising question is: What monarchs are marked for doom? Slender threads tie down many thrones, they think, whether the flames of war sweep through Europe or not. And low-increasing alarm reports have dragged from obscurity into the spotlight many of the incon-pious princes who are heirs to European thrones.

One internationally known Prince of Wales is not the only one who is concerned of a new chapter on kings and royalty to be written.

Will these princes one day be kings? Notable among them are:

Carol, Crown Prince of Romania.

Gustaf Adolf, Duke of Skane and Crown Prince of Sweden.

Leopold, Duke of Piedmont and Prince of Italy.

Olaf, Prince of Norway.

Frederick, Crown Prince of Denmark.

Don Alfonso, Prince of the astu-mias and Prince of Spain.

The lives of most of these have been plain pages to now. Unlike the Prince of Wales, called the "Drummer" for the British Empire, they are little known.

Carol of Romania has bulked largest in the news because of a lurid past. Once Carol renounced his right to the throne and married Mile, Zizi Lanbrino, beautiful Rumanian girl. She was offered as high as $2,000,000 to relinquish her claims, but she refused. A high court, however, declared the marriage null and void because the bans had not been published properly. The decree came shortly after Zizi's baby was born, Carol was passing through the United States.

Eldest, most scholarly, and son of the Princess Sophie of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, is Gustaf Adolf of Sweden. His tastes run to archaeology and ancient history and he is now head of an expedition digging in an ancient city on the Aegean Sea. His wife, now dead, was the English Princess Margaret, cousin of King George.

Leopold of Belgium, now 21, was

GEORGE LANG IS ALLOWED BAIL

George Lang, arrested here recently on a pimpmobile charge, was Saturday released from jail on a cash bond of $1,350. His alleged associate, Harry Bates, is still in jail, having been unable to get bond. The two men were arrested in the act of robbing a man at the Southern Railway depot several weeks ago. Bates, at the preliminary hearing assumed all responsibility for the robbery, stating that Lang, who was in front of the intended victim, had nothing to do with it. The bond calls for Lang's appearance before the grand jury at the February term of the corporation court. Lang is said to have claimed that his mother sent him the money. Since the arrests fingerprints of the two men have revealed them as professionals. Bates having operated in Baltimore and Lang in New York City. They were identified as men with long records of crime in various cities.

WAS ADVISED TO MAKE HIS WILL; STATES MALLORY

Never Expected to Leave Bed, But Tanlac Ended All His Troubles, He Declares.

"Every drop of Tanlac I have taken has been worth dollars to me," emphatically declared C. D. Mallory, R. F. D. 1, Box 236, Hampton, Va.

"When I started taking Tanlac I had been in miserable health for years. I just seemed to be flitting with the gout. In fact, I had reached such a state of health that I was advised to make my will, as my time for this world was getting short. I could take only a spoonful of liquid nourishment at a time, was nothing but a living skeleton, and just seemed to be hanging on to life by a thread, so to speak."

"I had to send for my first bottle of Tanlac, but was able to get out of bed and go for the second one myself. Well, after that I got well rapidly and finished my fourth bottle feeling fine. This was six years ago, but I have had no indigestion or other troubles to this good day, and have been able to work every day. I have never heard of anything so wonderful as Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold—adv.

CO-OPS PAY OUT $235,000 IN ALL AT MADISON, N. C.

REIDSVILLE, N. C., Jan. 27.—In all, the coops paid out at Madison approximately $245,000 was deposited by the marketing association in a local bank. This was the largest check ever to make its appearance in Madison. In fact, a number of superlatives may justly be used in connection with the happenings of the week and the events that brought them to pass. Never before has anything approaching the deluge of gold loosed by the co-operators fallen upon the town of Madison. Never before has been seen better for local business men, and prospects are bright for a record turn-over during the year 1923. And never before apparently have the growers disposed of their crops so satisfactorily to themselves.

RECEIPTS GOOD ON CHATHAM FLOORS

CHATHAM, Jan. 27.—The damp weather of the past few days has resulted in putting tobacco in stripping order and receipts on the Co-ops floor.

Federal and State prohibition officers Saturday conducted a raid on the premises of "Buddy" Haynes, in the county which netted 320 gallons of corn whisky. The 12-passenger Buick automobile in which the officers found a case of bonds and the bags which were brought to Danville and taken in charge by Federal Officials. The whisky was unloaded at the postoffice. No arrest was made during the raid Saturday, but the officers stated last night that on arrest in a few days is likely. Officers conducting the raid were Federal Agents A. A. May and J. A. Lumpkin and State prohibition inspector W. T. Shelton and Ben Heflinger.

The officers during their raid yesterday had searched the plantation thoroughly, having come across pits and caves in the earth and many five gallon tin cans and other evidence which might leave an impression that moonshine whisky was in the vicinity but none could they find. They finally started towards the dwelling and on passing a barn some distance from the house, Officer May and Lumpkin detected the odor of whisky. The boy was entered and the whisky discovered in the Buick automobile. Haynes appeared calm and surprised as a person could not stoutly denied that he knew anything about the liquor being in the barn. He maintained that he did not know how the car got into the barn. The officer stated last night that they intended looking up the license number and ascertain who the machine belonged to, this to lead up to an arrest probably Monday.

CO. RAT DRIVE STARTS MONDAY

The 1st killing campaign in the county will be in full swing this week. Mr. Perry reports that the thousand pounds of barium carbonate has been distributed throughout the county, and is now in the hands of the merchants, who will hand it out to those wishing to use it. Directions are given on each package, also the paper sacks are stamped with the word poison. By using ordinary precautions there is no reason why there should be any danger in its use. Mr. Perry advises the farmers to prepare the baits according to the directions, and to place it all out where the rats are likely to find it. In the meantime keep the dogs and cats until the rats are killed. All surplus poison and bait should then be destroyed. Under no circumstances should any of the poison be kept on the premises after the campaign is over.

Mr. Perry advises all farmers to make every effort to keep the rats out after having once cleared the premises. This is best done by the starvation process. In other words, rat proof the corn cribs, granaries and smoke-houses. On the average farm, the rats destroy enough each year to pay for rat proofing these buildings. Mr. Perry will be glad to advise farmers as to methods of building rat proof buildings and rat-proofing old ones.

The trial and ruling yesterday settles an issue at least temporarily, which has been up for many months. Whether the cases will come up for trial again is now problematical.

Final Arguments Are Being Heard In Sisk Case

Three Men on Trial for Murder of Rockingham Officer May Know Fate on Tuesday.

(Special to The Bee)

WENTWORTH, N. C., Jan. 29.—Final arguments were begun in Superior court here today before Judge Shaw in the case of the state against Edward Sisk and his two sons, Hardy Sisk and Sandy Sisk who are charged with the wilful and premeditated murder of E. C. Ziegler, chief of police of Maydan, Rockingham county, last April.

The case is attracting a good deal of attention. There appears to be a division in the settlement of the strength of the state's case and many people predict a divided jury. Owing to the large array of attorneys engaged in the case, it was believed this morning that the case would not reach the jury before Tuesday and that the whole court session would be taken up today in the final pleadings.

Solicitor Porter Graves is conducting the state's case with the assistance of J. R. Joyce, of Reidsville and O. L. Sapp of Greensboro.

The Sisks, wealthy men of the mountain section have not spared money in providing their defense. Gidewell and Averyberry of Reidsville and Aubrey Brooks of Greensboro are representing them.

The state has asked for conviction for first degree murder and has undertaken to show a brutal killing. The defense has been that the three men shot in self-defense and that they were not the aggressors in the pistol and shotgun battle which took place at Sisk's home.

The accused last, entirely the "local color" expected to be seen. There is nothing redolent of the mountains about the men unless it is their physiques. "Ed" Sisk, the father, a mountain of a man who, many people have likened to Von Hindenburg be-

Negro Seriously Wounded By Wife After a Quarrel

Floyd Oden, colored, was seriously wounded, perhaps fatally, on Sunday morning by his wife Julia Oden, who shot him in the back at close range with a shotgun. Oden is a patient at Providence hospital in a critical condition and his wife in jail, charged with felonious assault. The shooting occurred Sunday morning about 8:30 o'clock, following a quarrel which had begun on Saturday night. The negro was admitted at the hospital in the bedroll of his husband shortly after the shooting occurred, by Sergeant J. H. Martin and Patrolmen H. Dameron and T. E. Bowles.

Oden related his side of the story to the police at the hospital yesterday morning in the presence of his wife. The woman has made no statement in connection with the shooting.

The officer's received word of the shooting early yesterday morning and sent to the scene which was about a mile from the city on the Richmond road. When they arrived there found that the man had been taken to the hospital. They then went there and found Oden with his wife, sitting at his bedside.

The wounded man told the officers that the shooting was the result of a domestic quarrel. He said the argument started Saturday night when they retired. The woman he said, resumed the quarrel the first thing Sunday morning. He said that he first told her she was going over to Mrs. Farmer's house and that he produced shotgun and began jabbing him about the body with it.

"Don't play with me like that that gun's loaded," he said he told her. "I'll shoot you," he quoted the woman as saying and that time he started out the woman following. He said he had got as far as the porch when she fired the gun, the load of shot striking him in the back on the left side. The negro was but a few feet away when she fired, it was said.

It was able to state, also, the presence of the woman who had nothing to say in connection with it. It was said at the hospital this morning that Oden is not expected to live. He was said to have suffered hemorrhages all day yesterday. The shot effect in the left lung, it was stated.

Arrest Two On Liquor Charge

Prohibition officers yesterday in a raid at Chestnut Level found nearly eight gallons of liquor and placed under arrest David Yeats and Grover Halev. Officers stated that they had suspected the men for some time of handling whisky and beer, and that the scene yesterday convinced them that spirits were being distributed only. One of the officers stated this morning that the scene reminded him of a big meeting, judging by the large number of men around the two places and the number of automobiles parked nearby. Officers conducting the raid were Federal Agents A. A. May and J. A. Lumpkin, State Prohibition Agents W. T. Shelton and B. L. Heflinger and County Officers J. W. Pugh and Tom Smith.

Prohibition Inspector Shelton received information about 12 o'clock Sunday that about the two hours previous but at a few hundred yards apart, were crowds of men, most of whom were under the influence of whisky. Mr. Shelton stated that many such complaints had been made about the place recently and he prepared for a raid which was carried out about 6 o'clock. They recognized several young men from Chatham as the places "A big jubilee in general" was the way Mr. Shelton described the scene as it looked to him when he drove up. He stated that after they arrived a number of other cars came to the houses.

CHATHAM NEWS NOTES

CHATHAM, Jan. 27.—Attorney C. D. McCormick and Mrs. McCormick are sick at their home in south Chatham.

G. H. Vaden returned Saturday morning from a stay of several days in Florida, much delighted at his trip. Miss Maggie Hodges for several days back is improving.

Mrs. Joseph Terry passed away at her home near Jaxa on Thursday and was laid to rest in the family cemetery on Friday afternoon. She is survived by her husband and several children.

Can't Stop Joint-Ease

"You can't stop people from buying Joint-Ease for sore throat and cold in there," writes one of our druggist friends. "They say it's the best ever."

We know that, of course, but please remember that Joint-Ease is for stiff, swollen, painful joints, whether rheumatic or not, and its tremendous sale for that purpose proves that it is the one joint remedy that gets the most lasting relief.

A tube costs 50 cents at druggists everywhere. Just rub it on and in a few seconds it appears completely under the skin, and relief follows instantly—adv.

Don't Spoil Your Child's Hair By Washing It

When you wash your child's hair be careful what you use. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contains too much alkali, which is very injurious as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocao-nut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces.

Two or three teaspoonsfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little water and add all this is enough. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage.

Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt, and dandruff. You can get Mulsified cocao-nut oil shampoo at any drug store, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure you druggist gives you Mulsified—adv.

King's Camelots Seek To Avenge
Plateau's Death

PARIS, Jan. 27.—"They can make a lot of noise and break a lot of furniture, but there is no use of their trying the French act," was the general comment when the King's Camelots began their raid on the radical newspaper offices the other day after the killing of their leader, Marius Plateau, who was shot by a woman anarchist.

The royalist agitators of Paris took the name "King's Camelots" when Leon Daudet's newspaper, "L'Action Francaise" first appeared, and volunteers were called for to sell it on the streets. A large number of the sons of aristocratic families responded and were promptly arrested by the police when they began to yell the name of the paper. The Paris police regulations require a license to sell anything on the streets and the young royalists were obliged to go through the same formalities as the other "camelots" or vendors of vegetables and postcards. Thus they decided to take the name "king's camelots" for their organization.

Among their exploits was an invasion of the Sorbonne University, where they seized professor Thalamard and spanked him for speaking lightly of Joan of Arc. They also broke up a performance of Henry Bernstein's play at the State Theatre, the comedy Francaise, because M. Bernstein is a Jew and because he alleged, he had dodged military service during the war.

Their early pilgrimages to the various statues of Joan of Arc throughout Paris used to bring them in collision with the police, and once the Extreme Socialists formed a body of "young socialists" especially to combat the camelots. Then the real battles occurred in the streets and filled the drugstores with wounded, while the police stations were crowded with arrested combatants of both sides.

CHOPIN'S LAST PUPIL

Chopin's last pupil, Charles Perus—has just died in dire want in a Paris garret, at the age of more than 100 years. An accomplished pianist excelling in the interpretation of the works of his great teacher, Peru for a long time enjoyed popularity and even amassed a modest fortune until this melted before the increased cost of living during the war and he was obliged to leave his comfortable apartment and live in an attic where he suffered from the cold and often lacked for food. Friends discovered him there and relieved his wants to some extent but the garret was still his home when death came. He left a widow and grandson who are also almost destitute.

JACK LONDON POPULAR

The French reading world has discovered Jack London. The success of "Martin Eden" in French has encouraged the publisher to commission Maurice Dekobra to translate "Jury of the Island."

"White Fang" after appearing serially in a leading magazine is to be published in book form in March. The newspaper L'Humanite is giving "Iron Heel" serially, and this is to appear between covers in June. One of the new literary magazines dedicated its entire February number to articles on London.

A ROTHSCHILD DRAMATIST

Baron Henri de Rothschild who obtained control of the Antoine Theatre to produce the plays which he writes under the pseudonym Andre Pascal has withdrawn his latest production "Moulin de la Galette" before it was a week old. The baron explained that he was informed the public had mistaken the character of the play, treating it as a satire whereas it was merely imaginative.

Paris gossip, however, is to the effect that the baron annoyed the baron's intimates, who represented themselves among the people in the theater surrounding the hero, a millionaire from whom everybody seeks to raise loans. The play was produced in London before the war under the name "Cleopatra" without any better success.

Another play for which a successor now is rehearsing is Maurice Rosand's verse play "The Phoenix" which met with a most kindly reception from the critics scarcely a fortnight ago.

NEW EXEMPTION PLAN

Senator Louis Soule, representing the Loire, has a new idea in regard to military exemption in which he plans to move as an amendment when the new army bill comes for discussion in the Senate. He believes that fathers of families should be excused from military duty when their sons are called, and that those becoming fathers during their time in service should forthwith be allowed to return home.

Senator Soule argues that this favorable treatment would encourage early marriage and tend to supply France's greatest need—population. Frenchmen are called to military service at the age of 20.

THREE STOLEN PAINTINGS FOUND

(By The Associated Press) BOSTON, Jan. 27.—The three paintings—reputed to be works of almost priceless value, which Captain Umberto di Benito and several others of Beacon Hill apartments were recovered today at an auction room where they were left for sale by a man who took $100 on account. Art authorities have expressed the opinion that none of the paintings is by an artist of highest rank but are agreed that they are of considerable value.

Offers of $50,000 for the lot were made by several persons before they disappeared. Bellini said, but he said he placed their value at $540,000. Since they were left at the auction room they may have been subjects of interest but without bids high enough to warrant a sale.

SIKS ON TRIAL AT WENTWORTH

C. Ziegler near Madison last April. Judge Shaw adjourned court until Monday morning ordering the jury locked and kept together until that time when attorneys will begin speaking. It is not thought a verdict will be rendered before Tuesday.

Can't Risk New War.

"Germany knows she cannot match arms with France in a new war," the officers agree.

"She has no heavy artillery, no tanks, no aircraft."

"She has an army of 100,000, allowed by the treaty, and guard and police forces that might serve as manned for reorganization of a considerable part of the old army."

"Granted she has even large quantities of rifles, machine guns and even small artillery hidden away in its certain she has not now and cannot obtain quickly heavier fighting equipment—artillery, airplanes, tanks —to confront France along a given line."

No Natural Line.

"Also, beyond the Rhine, there is no natural line of resistance this side of the Elbe. And a stand at the Elbe would leave more than half of Germany in French occupation."

"Even should the army of Russia, reputed at 1,000,000, join hands with Germany, still France would be military master."

"With a highly organized and equipped army of 800,000, with artillery, aircraft and chemical warfare equipment and material in abundance, France could sweep through Germany as Germany swept through Belgium."

"The German knows the futility of an unprepared general military resistance."

"But, deprived of materials for his factories, fuel for his home and industries, it is possible even the disciplined, stoical German would reach their limits."

JOHN HANNON, wealthy ranch owner, his blind wife, BELLE, and their seven daughters, happily together in Hannons' wonderful ranch home, Paradise Ranch, king of the Red Brood of horses owned by Hannon, was accompanied by the master riding a mysterious ride into distant lands.

In Hannon's store in Santa Leandra, nearest town to Paradise Ranch, a great iron riding man of mystery with steady until VELANTRIE from the Border and his band of riders appear—Vel-antrie, wins Brideman's gold and silver, and Lola, Santa Landra, who offers herself as a slave for Brideman. Volantrie fills Lola's sack with gold and tells her to go home to her father.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Presently they swung far and away toward the north and west, to skirt the foot of the Mesa Grande that lifted its flat top high above the surrounding levels, to find the narrow trail that went up its south side in steep and dangerous slants, and to climb to its high tableland where the ancient Indian huts stood, hollow and deserted, whipped by the winds and eaten by their sands.

For at those doors stood Father Hillaire, who for forty years had watched the stretching plains. He had seen some piteous things, and more that were tragic, and some that were bright with faith and courage and everlasting fidelity—such as John Hannon's love for his blind son.

"Ah!" he said aloud, delightedly.
"Velantrie!"

It could be no other.

There was not in the land another pair like the two who came skimming forward like a swallow, the man and the horse—there could not be. They seemed not two but one, so perfectly did they blend together in motion and appearance. The rider carried his broad black hat in his hand and the wind of their coming blew the black hair back from his white forehead, and his face was bright with laughter to greet the old priest in the gate.

"Father!" he cried as the great red horse thundered up to slide in the dust and stop with his haunches to the earth, his fiery eyes ashine in his broad bay face. "Padre! Ave!"

He flung himself from the saddle and caught the padre's hands in both his own, pumping them up and down, boy fashion.

"My son!" said Father Hillaire, gladly, searching the sparkling face.
"Son—son! It has been long, long since Refugio has seen you. Come in. Have you eaten?"

"Not since yesterday, but what matters?"

He laid his arm affectionately about the old man's shoulders and turned toward the garden, carefully gathering the bridle reins he had not loosed.

So they entered the garden, drawing the great red stallion after, and the father stopped and securely closed the gates.

"Bonifacio," he called into the depths where the shadows were already falling, "come and take The Comet. Give him," he continued as a slim youth came briskly up through the wasatcha trees, "a little water—not much—and rub him down well. Then a feed from the bins in the north stable. Keep watch upon him thyself until I call."

Dusky women, their faces mask with the sweetness of that house, went noiselessly about the setting of the evening meal, and old Joseph, for many years the chateleine, greeted the stranger with a warmth of recognition in her wrinkled features.

And so, presently, Velantrie of the Border sat at the long table with the padre and ate as one famished, though with grace and manner. He bowed his black head through the short blessing and withheld his hand with a slow repression, though hunger was with him keenly.

When the meal was finished the two men went outside again to the starlight and the dry garden, drew together the worn chairs by the little table where lay the ancient books, and talked in that deep communion which comes with like and understanding.

But those who came to the Mission must work, for Father Hillaire was poor in worldly goods and the scant fare that was so free on the long board in the great barn living-room behind the church must be taken from the soil with unremitting labor.

Frigoles grew on the level stretches across the stream, and a few bands of cattle ran on the open range, while sturdy gauchos patrolled on the wall that clamped the garden. Brown bread and milk and simple homemade wine, and the frigoles always made taste, the corner at the Mission steps, be it dawn or dark or in the dead of night. But sometimes the slices of the dark bread were thin, the tea strongly flavored with sage, for gold came scarcely to the padre's coffers in these days.

The sun went down toward the west and the long blue shadows stretched out across the level floor from the lone shafts of stone and the table-lands of the mesas, and the little wind began to whisper from the south, while the wondrous colors came sifting through the light.

These colors had been to Father Hillaire one of the priceless possessions of his life, a gift of God in all time, a wonderful healing and inspiration.

Never was the day so dark, the future so uncertain, but that his burdened heart found peace and hope in their beholding.

Today, as they flushed the high mesa, the sun was still high in the sky.

"I am glad to see you again, Father,"

he said, "but I am afraid I have nothing to offer you."

Frau Wagner Is Looking For Aid
From Americans

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—Siegfried Wagner plans to leave for America next month at the request of his mother, who is determined that her celebrated husband's operas shall not cease to be performed under ideal conditions at Bayreuth, even if German patrons cannot raise money for the Bayreuth festival she and her son have planned for 1926.

Richard Wagner was forced to go to England late in the seventies to raise money for the festival and Frau Cosima is confident her son will have the same success. To her American friends a letter of hers:

Although Richard Wagner died forty years ago his wife has never ceased battling in defense of his artistic standards and age—she is 86 years old—does not lessen her struggle. Her Bayreuth home is connected with the building in which the festivals are held, and all her time is given to planning elaborate new productions of her husband's operas.

Frau Wagner is the daughter of Franz Liszt and her first husband was Hans von Bülow, famous pianist and conductor of the Royal Opera in Munich, who directed the first performance of "Tristan and Isolde". Wagner and Frau Von Bülow became enamored of each other; von Bülow consented to a divorce and continued a warm friend to the Wagners and their artistic work, which was carried on under the patronage of King Ludwig II of Bavaria, who assisted in the erection of the Bayreuth theatre and home where Frau Wagner lives with her son.

Upon the birth of Siegfried in 1869, Wagner wrote his famous instrumental work, the "Siegfried Idyll", and presented it to his wife as an expression of his joy over the coming of an heir. A skilled orchestra played the Idyll in the hallways to the Wagner home.

Cosima Wagner has never been a performer, but inherited great critical ability from her noted father and both husband and son profited by her advice.

BOYCOTT CAUSES CONFUSION

The boycott there against French and Belgian goods is causing much confusion. Many German firms, chiefly those manufacturing toilet articles, wines and cordials have, in the past imitated French labels upon their popular brands and are consequently having some trouble now.

One firm sold almost exclusively "French goods" and the boycott has brought out the fact that all these perfumes and soaps are in reality manufactured here. The proprietor is having much difficulty in establishing but his explanation is accepted by those selling his goods in this store as doing fair business, despite the cards in the windows announcing: "No French or Belgian goods sold here."

The word "cognac" has been banned along with the names of other French articles, and if one asks for this or any other French drink in a Berlin bar or cafe all he receives is a frown from the waiter.

The Germans are wracking their brains to conceive short, snappy, catchy and euphonious words to be used for new drinks, perhaps out of old bottles, for the soaps, perfumes and other articles heretofore sold under French labels.

Meanwhile merchants with great stocks of French goods on hand are wondering what to do with them.

Donors To Decide Disposition Of Tie Game Proceeds

(By The Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, Jan. 27.—Final disposition of the money received by the Disabled American Veterans from the proceeds of the tie game of the world baseball series in New York last year will be left to its donors. Captain C. Hamilton Cook, commander of the veterans, said today, following the adjournment of the meeting here of the national executive committee.

Commander Cook said he would see Judge A. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, and discuss with him what the intentions of the donors were in giving approximately $20,000 to the organization.

Resolutions demanding the immediate consideration and passage of the Sweet, Burson and Knutson bills, which would aid veterans and disabled veterans of the world war, were unanimously adopted by the executive officers. They also went on record as favoring more liberal hospitalization for nurses in government hospitals so as to attract more competent nurses to service. It was said the nurses now receive at a rate of $80 a month.

The conference instructed the commanding officer to urge the United States Veterans' Bureau to establish night clinic dispensary service in each of the 140 district and sub-district offices of the bureau. A standardized building program for government hospitals for wounded and sick veterans was favored by the veterans. They urged the government to draw up plans so that hospitals could be constructed in any part of the country where a certain plan could not be prohibitive.

It was said that Colonel Charles Forbes, director of the bureau, favored such a plan.

The next conference of the executive committee will be held in Minneapolis on the evening of the convention of the American disabled veterans, which starts on June 26.

SPRAY DEFEATS Y. M. C. A. TEAM

The Spray Y. M. C. A. team put a strong team on the floor and defeated the local Y. M. C. A. last night by the score of 32 to 17. Little can be said of the locals' work except that they were in there fighting until the final whistle blew. inability to cage the ball was Danville's chief fault, as they had many chances.

Rustin and Heubl being the only ones to get any two pointers, also four foul goal shooting contributed to the low score only 6 fouls being caged out of 18 tries.

For Draper, Dempster was the outstanding star, being all over the floor and caging five field goals. Harger was also a sure shot, also getting five field goals, while "Red" Sewell at guard played a fine game and also three double dickers.

The Danville Juniors showed the older boys how to do it by defeating the Draper Juniors by the score of 26 to 13. During the first half the Danville Juniors first team had the long end of a 19 to 8 score, during the second half with the second Juniors in, Draper out scored them to 7.

Gwynne for Danville was high scorer with five field goals in fifteen minutes playing. Gwynne also caged two pretty goals, the whole first team played like veterans and no one deserved more credit than another. Giles and Harris played well for the Junior second team.

Roush for Draper played a great game and caged three pretty field goals.

STEALING BECOMING A LOST ART?

Is base-stealing becoming a lost art? Is it because the players as a whole are slower of foot or is it because the class of catchers in the big leagues is better than was the case of a few years ago?

Or is it due to the fact that present-day hurlers are more adept at holding the runners to the bag, thus cutting down their lead, and obviously diminishing their chances of piffling cushions?

No doubt each of the reasons above presented have played a part in the decrease of base-running. But you haven't heard anything yet.

The real reason for the decline of base-running can be found in the Hively ball now in use in the majors.

The star means mighty little in modern baseball. It's the team that gets 'em in clusters wins.

Stealing bases with the lively ball is simply suicide. The hit and run play is far more profitable.

Some idea of the decline in base-running can be gleaned from the following figures.

Last season, 681 bases were pilfered by the American League clubs to 735 for the National. The teams in the Johnson wire passed the mark in 1919, with three turning the same trick in the older outfit. Pittsburgh was high with 48, and the Philadelphia low with 48.

Six players wearing American League uniforms reached the 20 or above figure, while but five National Leaguers were able to accomplish a similar feat.

Now compare the above records with those of 1915 when base-stealing was at its highest peak, with the campaign the total stolen bases in the American League was 144 with every team getting above the century mark, and three going over the 200 total.

Incidentally no less than 225 players snagged over 20 cushions or more with Ty Cobb setting the pace with the marvelous record of 96 stolen bases.

The National League, the same anaazaaaaahndly shdrlf shdrlfshdru year, turned in 174 threeevers, every club surpassing the hundred point.

There were 18 men reached the "20 or above" class.

Police said that complaints had been received from Dover, Del., Baltimore and Richmond, Va., and that further investigation was expected to reveal many others.

COLLEGE WORK HAMMERS THE SELECTION OF BEST AMATEUR GOLF TEAM

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—While the United States will send a team of amateur golfers to compete in the British amateur, it is a certainty that it will not comprise the cream of the nation.

Jesse Sweetser, winner of the United States amateur title at Brookline, Mass., last year and Bobby Jones and Rudy Knepper, who also worked up to the semi-finals, are not being figured on in the makeup of the team.

True, the services of these three great players are much desired, but holding of the British amateur in May conflicts with the college work of the trio.

Sweetser is at Yale, Jones at Harvard, and Knepper is at Princeton. If they made the trip it would seriously interfere with their studies. Even if they desired to go, it is doubtful if faculty permission would be granted.

All of which makes it seem that the four semi-finalists in the United States amateur of 1922 will not go abroad to represent this country this year.

The Times reiterates the British argument, saying the money was borrowed after America entered the war, reached an effective stage and that the money thus borrowed was spent almost entirely in the United States and it is proper and pertinent to add that the prices charged were almost uniformly the highest."

KILLS WIFE, THEN SELF

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Although all the London morning papers display prominently the statement made by Stanley Baldwin, on his arrival at Southampton Saturday, few of them commented editorially. The Times however, devotes a full column editorial to the remarks of the chancellor of the exchequer, regretting the inability of the Baldwin mission to effect an agreement. It says the question now is whether the American terms should be accepted, whether Great Britain should submit a counter proposal, whether the whole matter should stand over. Whatever decision is reached, it adds must be reached soon.

Veteran Managers, McGraw and Mack Lead All Other Rivals in Pennant Winners

(Special to The Bee)

FOR a while last season it appeared that baseball precedent was due for a pair of upsets, but they failed to materialize when the two St. Louis clubs faltered in the stretch of the major league races, and were nosed out of the pennants.

For despite the fact that the Missouri hamlet has long been represented by two teams in the big leagues, it has never yet been blessed with a pennant-winning aggregation. And with the exception of Washington is the only city in either circuit that hasn't obtained such an honor.

Up until 1920, the American League flag has been generally monopolized by three clubs, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago, with Detroit getting in three times. Then Cleveland put over its initial triumph with the New York Yankees grabbing it for the past two seasons.

In the matter of supporting championship outlays, the Athletics and Boston top the field, each having won the gonfalon on six occasions,

The Baptists had a rather easy time defeating Cabell street last night by the one-sided score of 46 to 12. This is the highest score that has been made in any Sunday school league game.

SETS NEW RECORD

(By The Associated Press)

EDMONTON, Alberta, Jan. 27.—Everett McGowan, St. Paul, Minn., professional speed skater, today established a new world's outdoor record of 3 2-5 seconds for the fifty yard dash from a flying start and the Edmonton winter ice carnival.

McGowan failed in three attempts to lower the record of 9 2-5 seconds for 100 yards, established several weeks ago by Charles Pewtraw of Lake Placid. His best mark for this distance was 10 2-5 seconds.

McGowan yesterday broke the world's record for the mile in 10 1-5 seconds.

He once turned a trick on the ice that the mighty "Willie" Heston, which no one else ever accomplished, bringing Heston down from behind after the Michigan star had broke loose into an almost clear field, with Graver as interference. Eckersall, the only barrier to the goal line, crashed into the Wolverine runner, spilling Graver onto the ice.

The play still ranks as one of the best individual defensive efforts in the middle west.

Twice during his football career

Eckersall booted five field goals in a game, and against Wisconsin in 1904 he took the ball from the kick-off and dashed 105 yards through the entire Badger team for a touchdown.

GOLD SHIPMENT TO INDIA MADE

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Seventy-one legs of gold coin and 910 bars of silver, the whole valued at $3,480,000, were taken out of India today by the Liverpool bound steamer Cecilia.

Several reasons for the gold shipment have been advanced, among them that gold was needed in India to make wedding ornaments for the coming marriage season and that it was needed to offset the purchase of British sterling to pay India debts to Great Britain. The silver movement was said to have been inspired by a belief that an import tax on silver soon is to be levied in India.

MRS. MARY E. HIX PROTESTS STORY

Mrs. Mary E. Hix last night called the office and took issue with an article which appeared Saturday relative to her arrest together with Vera Johnson and Joe Pruitt by police officers who accused the trio of drinking in a public place. The three were bonded for their appearance before Squie Flitts at Schoolfield next Wednesday. They were arrested in a machine driven by Pruitt on the Silver road.

Mrs. Hix claims that the article is a reflection on her character. She says that Pruitt called on Vera Johnson, who rooms at her house, and that he sought to take her to the show and that she objected on the grounds that Pruitt was a married man. They then asked her to go along as chaperone, Mrs. Hix contends, but she declined to go to the theatre and suggested that the trio go for a ride which they finally agreed to do. She says that when at a point on the River Road the gasoline supply in the car ran out and it was while they were sitting there that the officers came up and placed them under arrest. She said that she knew nothing of any whisky being in the car.

Officers claim they found a bottle of liquor in the car.

OLD VIOLINS BEING FOUND
MANY PLACES

(By Associated Press.)
PETERSBURG, Va., Jan. 27.—Reports from Danville announcing the discovery of a genuine Stradivarius violin have resulted in much active rummaging here, culminating in the discovery of two violins supposed to be the handiwork of the great violin maker, Antonio Stradivarius. Mrs. H. F. Stanley, of Colonial Heights, has discovered that she is owner of a genuine Stradivarius purchased by her 10 years ago from a local dealer in musical instruments.

ANOTHER STRADIVARIUS.

Since the first Stradivarius was discovered in this city another violin, antedating the first by a number of years, has been found. Probably if others are located here several may would be found. The supply of valuable violins seems to be on the increase.

Robert Lynch Of Danville Is Given Large Sum

CHATHAM, Jan. 27.—Robert Lynch, 21-year-old youth of Danville, won a verdict awarding him $5,000 in his damage suit for $30,000 damages against the Riverside Cotton Mills here this afternoon in the circuit court. An appeal from the decision was immediately noted by counsel for the defense, who evidently was not satisfied with the amount of the award.

The damage suit, which was instituted by the sequel of injuries sustained by the youth while he was working in the mill seven years ago, or to exact on October 1, 1915.

It has been understood that the youth waited this length of time to become of age so that he might bring a damage suit, it having been stated that he had no parents and had decided to wait the long years of seeking damages for his injuries. But it was learned today that Lynch's mother was living at the time of the accident and is now living. She is the wife of J. P. Davis. It was said that soon after the accident in the mill in which the fourteen-year-old boy's foot was badly injured when mangled by an elevator that young Lynch and his stepfather, Davis signed a release with the mill company, which amounted to $500.

At the time of the accident Lynch is said to have caught his foot beneath an elevator and to have sustained severe injuries. His heel was badly crushed.

From now fat that comes and goes where it is not needed is a burden, a hindrance to activity, a curb upon pleasure. You can take off the fat where it shows by taking after the meal, but it is better to follow the Prescription Table. CERTAIN RELIEF
FOR INDIGESTION

Indigestion and its attendant ills such as colic, heartburn, sour stomach, cramps, pains, dysentery, diarrhea, colic, cholera morbus, chronic constipation, gas, etc., and even sick, nervous headaches are directly traceable to disorders in the digestive organs and can now be quickly relieved with new cordial called "Anti-Ferment" originated by a druggist and recommended by physicians.

The root source before it is fully digested is turned into solution into poisons that are absorbed into the system, irritating the intestines and setting up inflammation. To avoid thus you simply have to prevent fermentation by using Anti-Ferment.

Anti-Ferment neutralizes the acid condition of the stomach, cleanses and strengthens the bowels, soothes and heals the inflamed mucous membranes, relieves the flow of gastric juices, giving quick and certain relief. Get a bottle of Anti-Ferment from your druggist with a guarantee of satisfactory results or money returned. It will improve your appetite, give you restful sleep and make you feel better than you ever left in your life—adv.

The visitors for the afternoon were Miss A. H. Shelton, Mrs. Maurice Peacock and Miss Bessie Bennett.

At the close of the social hour Mrs. Kiker assisted by Mrs. Shelton, served delicious refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Helms entertained the Thursday Night Bridge Club at their home on Main street last week.

HEALTH TALK NO. 12.

When you are sick, do you know why?

Some say germs, loss of sleep, improper food, worry, overwork, and various other so-called reasons are offered. Isn't it funny, when we stop to think about it, that we are like monkeys—just repeat and imitate?

What is it that causes you to be sick? Isn't it because some part of your body fails to work as it should. When we consider that every organ in the body is dependent upon NERVE ENERGY, isn't it easy to understand how pressure on spinal nerve cutting off the flow of this nerve energy will affect the organ involved and cause sickness?

And isn't it just as easy to understand how the removal of this pressure will restore the full flow of nerve energy, allowing the sick organ to again do its work as nature intended?

This common-sense idea of the CAUSE of sickness and its correction, is what has made Chiropractic famous. If you would know more about this better way to health, visit our office and we will be glad to explain more fully, and if desired we will give you a free spinal analysis and tell you frankly what we can do for you.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Can a chorus girl be unsophisticated? All the "wise ones" will laugh at the question.

Yet $2,000 depends on the answer a jury will give.

Dorothy Koch, 22, show girl insists dancing as a soubrette may teach one a great deal about the bright lights, but never did she find anything to warn her of the ways of an Indiana farmer.

Hence she is suing an Indiana farmer alleging false arrest, kidnapping, false imprisonment and what not.

Her complaint alleges:

In December she met the farmer who proposed marriage and gave her a diamond ring. Going to Los Angeles to visit, she was pursued via airplane by her suitor. He burst in upon her, accompanied by a private detective. He demanded his ring back, charging her with jumping out of an airplane. He told her he ought to send her to jail, but he would be content if she would go back with him to San Francisco.

She went—a forced trip, she insists, and then for two weeks became the farmer's prisoner in a hotel room, not by key and lock but by the seats of jail and disclosure, she says.

And I believed everything he said," she related after she had finally fled to a lawyer's office.

But the defendant is expected to enter a plea that any chorus girl would have enough worldly wisdom to shout for help under such circumstances—and he'll be $2,000 to the good if he makes it stick.

As for her charges:

"All bunk," says he.

Manufacturers Buying In Even Heavier Volume

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Manufacturers are buying today in even heavier volume than they are selling. The upward trend of prices in certain commodities has become so unmistakable that manufacturers are rushing into the market in a vigorous effort to supply their future requirements before the actual price advances become effective. As a consequence, the market is tight, normal is off season for the railroads finds them pressed to the utmost and turning back business for lack of equipment to handle it.

These facts were fully confirmed by dispatches from various sections of the country received here today. Automobile manufacturers are buying sheet steels in tremendous quantities. One maker is seeking offers to fill his entire requirement for the year according to reports from Detroit.

Oil men are buying pipe and tank materials in exceptional volume. Pittsburgh and Youngstown report. Cotton mills are taking the raw staple as fast as they can buy it and get it delivered to the spinners.

Furniture dealers all over the country are increasing their plants and buying raw materials for a heavy scale drive later in the year. Officials of the Pere Marquette Railroad reported today that the volume of lumber going into Grand Rapids was one hundred per cent. above the shipments a year ago while finished products going out show an increase of only nine per cent.

Lumber mills both in the South and on the Pacific coast are booking out far faster than they can saw the logs and shipments are well below next business.

Railroad repair shops are manned fully and the equipment manufacturers are booking months in advance. Skilled labor is demand in nearly every industry with the steel workers and tailors in special demand. Middle western manufacturers also report a shortage of unskilled labor.

While the response in the opening of the Fall lines of the American Woolen Company has not been made public officially it is understood that jobbers and the garment trades have bought briskly and the leading woolen cloth manufacturers has sold heavily in some lines. It is expected that these lines will be withdrawn from the market in the near future.

In cotton goods are being sold in tremendous volume throughout the South and West in anticipation of still higher prices. Silks are in splendid demand especially for the eastern trade and manufacturing has not been checked by the steady price increases in general for the raw product.

While the consumer will be called upon to bear a fair share of the advance in clothing as a result of the increased costs of materials, retailers are striving to keep these advances within the lowest bound possible.

Rubber, after rising to high figures during the week, dropped down slightly to the 36 cents level at which British producers hope to hold it. Tire manufacturers continue to operate at approximately 10 per cent of capacity, capital and working stocks for the spring demand. Buyers of carpets and rugs for the larger retail houses throughout the country are active in this market at present. Mills are closely booked and experts assert that many have accepted so many orders that they will be unable to fill only 75 to 80 per cent. of the bookings. Non-Ferrous metals clos-

OFFICIALS PROBING JAIL RIOT FIND WOMAN DIRECTED POLICY

(Special to The Bee)

BALTIMORE, Jan. 29.—Can a woman rule a men's prison? One tried it in the Maryland House of Correction. But her attempt ended in a fiasco when the prisoners revolted and were only subdued after 18 of them had been shot.

The nominal head of the institution is Warden William A. Lankford, 21, who has held this position for two years. But his daughter, Myrtle, seems to have been the actual head. She is said to have directed how discipline should be enforced, what the prisoners should have to amuse them, what they should eat. She dealt with them through an honorary name after herself. Her members were picked inmates who were granted many privileges.

They had meetings, games, special dishes from the kitchen. A prisoner who did not conform was specially made to see that it was to his better interest to join the club and remain in standing order.

When the riot of the riot started, Warden Lankford was called first. His daughter was. Before Director Emory Coblenz at the office of the State Welfare Board the day after the riot she denied the 600 prisoners were abused or ill-fed, despite charges to that effect which have caused six investigations in the last ten years.

"We can run this prison," Miss Lankford said. "The trouble is too much outside influence. It comes from persons who are ignorant of prison work."

Members of the Myrtle Honor Club, including its prisoner-president, were in the riot. They charged that the food was wormy, dirtily poorly cooked and scanty; that they were beaten, abused and "disciplined" until they were forced into open rebellion.

They told the welfare board that they were chained to corridor bars; kept in dark cells on bread and water for days as punishment for small offenses, and deprived of all privileges for the slightest irregularity.

MISS MYRTLE LANKFORD

Most of those who took part in the riot gave as some sort flattened bird shot or pistol balls that the prison doctor picked out of their bodies.

Bahamas Islands Bootleg Paradise Rolling in Wealth

Over Million Gallons Exported to This Country Annually—Startling Revelations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Liquor is now being smuggled into the United States from the Bahamas Islands at the rate of 1,200,000 gallons annually, while the government and population of that British colony, getting "relatively immense" revenues from the "traffic," are absolutely indisposed to sympathize with efforts to check it, according to a statement issued today by Representative Rogers, Republican, Massachusetts, based on official data furnished him by the state department.

From the duties on whisky alone, Mr. Rogers said, the islands are deriving an income three times as great as their government revenues from all sources in 1918, while the estimated profits of those interested in the traffic, including members of the elected legislative body, are said to be enriching.

Mr. Rogers declared the state department report "read like a book of fiction" in describing the mushroom growth—still continuing—what he classes as "an established practice" New Orleans or some other Gulf port.

Letters From Egyptian King's Wife Are Found

Tutankhamen's Widow Wrote to Hittite Monarch Asking His Son for New Mate.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Further light is thrown upon the mystery of Tutankhamen, the shadowy king of Egypt in 1356 B. C., by a series of letters published recently in "Ancient Egypt," under the editorship of Fred. Petrie.

These letters were discovered at Luxor, and have just been published by the Berlin Museum.

One of them is from Tutankhamen, the widow of Tutankhamen, who was then twenty-one, according to the Hittite king for a son of his to marry her and become King of Egypt.

As the professor says in a footnote: "This shows that Tutankhamen was not unreasonable in wishing to intimate the earlier alliance of the Egyptian royalties with the modern powers."

The reason for the widowed queen's appeal is set forth in the letter:

"... My husband is dead; I have no children; your sons are said to be grown up; if it is me one of your sons you give, and if he will be my husband he will be help; send him accordingly; and thereafter I will make him my husband. I send trifling gifts."

There was evidently some confusion or mistrust in the mind of the Hittite king, for he sent a secretary to Egypt, enjoining him "not to trust his deceiver, but to trust my son, who has written the letter to me (and) as to the son of his ruler what is become of him."

Tutankhamen then repeated her request, explaining that her husband was dead and that she had no son, and adding, "... so to me one of your sons give, and he as my husband in the land of Egypt shall be king."

The bargain was duly carried out, and the lady selected a son of the Hittite king as her mate.

The bearing of this little piece of documentary evidence on the recent finds at Luxor," said Professor Petrie to a Daily News reporter, "is to my mind that it supplies a clue to the mystery of the extraordinary richness and variety of the finds. What probably happened was that when a stranger, a Hittite, came to rule over the land, all the royal treasures were piled into Tutankhamen's tomb, so that they might not fall in their entirety into the hands of the stranger."

Another possibility is, of course, that the tomb at Luxor, discovered by Lord Carnarvon, does not contain Tutankhamen's body at all; it may have served merely as a hiding place for the royal treasures when the Hittite came over to rule over the country.

This would fit in with the theory advanced by the famous French Egyptologist, the Abbe Breuil, who suggested that jealousy had caused Tutankhamen's successor to hide all the dead king's treasures in a secret place while he caused his own name to be written up over Tutankhamen's real tomb.

The opening of the third chamber at Luxor probably will solve the mystery of this struggle for a dead king's treasures over 3,000 years ago. Was it the work of the second husband who was jealous of the fame of his dead rival, or was it the work of the royal widow who adopted this method to deprive the second husband of the enjoyment of the relics of his predecessor?

MAIL boys hit the nail on the head with uncanny accuracy at times.

I remember a dialogue which I overheard between a rather pharisaical father and his seven-year-old son in San Antonio.

"Father, when you were a boy like me did you go to Sunday school every Sunday?"

"WURZACH: "When I was your age, yes, son! I went to Sunday school every day. I was eager to go to Sunday school."

"Well," observed the boy, "it's not doing me much good, either."

WITHDRAW TROOPS

By The Associated Press
BERLIN, Jan. 27.—Special detachments from Treves say that under threat of a general strike the French authorities have withdrawn the troops detaching which have been occupying the public utility plants, the post office and railway yards and have also agreed to grant a respite of fourteen days to German officials who have been ordered to leave Treves.

The above epitaph was inscribed on a tombstone that stood above the grave of a man and his wife. At first glance it appears to be a mixture of Latin, English and some unknown language. If it is carefully read and the spaces changed, it will make a poetic epitaph in perfect English.

Saturday's answer:
If a pair of dice is rolled, there is one chance in six that the number seven will appear. There is a simple way to prove this. Roll one die of dice. Whatever number turns up, there will be only one number in the other die that can bring the total to seven. As the other die has six sides, the chances of a seven are one to six. Example: A three is rolled with one die. The only side of the other die that can bring the total to seven is the four side.
